SUMMER 1987

Retiring President Urges Continued Alumni Support

Brother Alpha Delt:

In February of 1981, I walked into the Alpha Delt house for the first time in 10 years. I found an establishment that had survived the bad times of the early and mid-'70s and seemed to me a still worthwhile institution. However, it was "failing to thrive."

Having some available time and energy, I decided to get involved. I started out by chairing the Maintenance Committee, added undergraduate operations, and in 1985 accepted the office of president of the alumni corporation. Along the way I also became treasurer of the then-dormant Adelpic Fund.

The six years have been at times trying and exasperating, but on the whole productive, inspiring, and rewarding. The physical plant has been put in good repair and is being maintained—no more crisis management! Several problems within the undergraduate organization have been resolved, and they have an increasing membership of outstanding Cornellians. The Adelpic Fund has been revived and revitalized, with a five-year fund drive under way that raised $142,000 in the first year.

Most important, alumni participation and involvement has increased tremendously. Alumni dues in the current year are triple what they had been averaging, new blood has been brought into both organizations, and some board members have been

ADPhi Remains Campus Leader

During the spring semester, Alpha Delta Phi continued to demonstrate its strengths in the house and on campus. Good times, traditions, and fraternity life have helped to heighten our overall sense of brotherhood—and in a house that will have every room full next fall, it's great that everyone is so dedicated to the house and each other and eager for another great year at Cornell.

Today's Alpha Delt holds important positions in practically every campus organization, including the Cornell Review and the Cornell Daily Sun; Cornell's number one literary magazine, Visions; glee club; the polo, crew, track, and ski teams; the board of trustees; and the Committee on University Life, which oversees Greek life. In fact, Alpha Delt now holds the top leadership positions in both the Cornell Republicans and the Cornell Democrats! Strength through diversity.

We think our success lies in the commitment of each and every brother to each other and to the growth of the house, as well as the renewed encouragement and support of our alumni brothers. Thanks to the undergraduates' hard work, Alpha Delt is one of only four houses at Cornell that were able to present larger

Samuel Eells Returned To Cornell Chapter House!

In the fall of '86, Sam wandered from the Alpha Delt house at Cornell. He was a little battered, torn, and not in good color. He was sighted briefly in Penn Yan, New York; was later seen on the New York State Thruway; and then went into hiding. In March he was discovered in Williamstown, Massachusetts—looking for the Williams Alpha Delt house, which had been closed for 20 years. The above picture shows his return from Williamstown—toasted by four alumni from the classes of '52 and '53. Sam looks much revived and is "in the pink." He is greeting alumni and undergraduates in the library at 777 Stewart Avenue. Can you solve the mystery of Sam's disappearance? (For the solution, turn to page four.)

ACEF Capital Fund Drive Enters Second Year

On a regional basis, our organization and support systems are yielding positive results. Active chapter participation on phoneathons has been extremely successful, and we will complete direct calling to every living Cornell Alpha Delt this year.

Our "lost brothers" list is a continuing and critical function. Tom Ellis '55 has accepted the job of keeping our books straight, while Christophe Bergen '76 was elected treasurer at the Alumni Weekend trustees meeting. Semiannual statements of financial condition will be mailed to all members of the ACEF commencing August 1987.

I would like to call to your attention the continued availability of tax saving when giving to the ACEF—an approved fund #16-6023220. Gifts of non-cash appreciated property remain deductible for their full market value, subject only to the alternative minimum tax in limited cases.

Particularly at today's elevated quotations for some stocks, such a gift—for instance, a share of Caterpillar at $55.00, on which one has a cost of only $8.00—makes a deduction of $47.00 per share. At a tax bracket of 40 percent, this saves $18.80 of income tax, making the gift cost only $28.20, while the giver feels proud to give $47.00 to a very worthy cause. Give 100 shares and save $1,880.00.

Our treasurer will promptly handle and acknowledge each gift. Although securities are the easiest to handle, we can enter into transactions in real estate or other property in special cases. Think it over. If you do nothing else, you can save commissions.

Treasurer's Report

Dues are up 300 percent. Life memberships are up 100 percent. Samuel Eells Clubs' founding life member is Robert Woods '44. Your brothers appreciate your loyalty and generosity, Bob! We thank you.

All bills are paid. More than 20 percent of all living alumni have contributed time and/or money this past year. Stage one of capital improvement—cosmetic upgrading and deferred maintenance—has been completed. Thank you for your support, advice, counsel, and participation.

Pride of membership, loyalty to traditional values, and planning for an assurance of perpetuity are topics to be consciously addressed during 1987-'88. We need more active alumni in the corporation. By active, I mean that we want to see you at Homecoming and initiation. We want your input at semiannual meetings. Issues of policy and organization should be resolved by a broad consensus rather than just by the board of directors.

Call me with your concerns, drop me a note if you're not pleased with what's happening, and bring your family to Homecoming on October 10. If you sent a check last year, don't forget us this year. Call your old roommate and tell him about Alpha Delta Phi 1987. Bring him back with you this fall. Believe me, it's good for the soul.

Fund-Raising Chairman

ACEF Activities Continue To Grow

The dinners continue—with one in New York City on February 23, 1987, that was attended by 42 brothers. More are scheduled this fall. In San Francisco, T. C. Reed '55 will do the honors for Bay area alumni at the Pacific Union Club. Washington, DC, is the second location, and invitations will go out to brothers from Richmond to Baltimore. Knight Kiplinger '69 will be the host at the Chevy Chase Club in suburban Washington. The purpose of the dinners is to bring alumni closer to the current activities of Cornell Alpha Delta Phi. The undergraduate president will be present, as well as several alumni officers. Past dinners have been a popular event.

Donations to the fund continue. As of June 7, $142,632 has been pledged. We need your help to keep this growing so that we can continue to make Alpha Delt affordable to outstanding young Cornell men. If you would like to assist in the organization of this fund-raising effort, please contact Tom Foulkes '52, ACEF president, at 716/381-3364 or Lauri Walsh '61, ACEF campaign director, at 607/962-3979.

pledge classes than last year—most houses saw very lean pledge classes this year. And thanks to the alumni, the pledges were initiated in grand Alpha Delt style.

We all look forward to the continued growth of the fraternity and of each individual brother, as together we carry on the traditions, values, and brotherhood of Alpha Delta Phi.

MAKE YOUR PLANS NOW FOR

Homecoming Weekend • Cornell vs. Harvard • October 9-11, 1987

This year's Homecoming Weekend is scheduled for October 9-11, earlier than ever before. If you plan to attend, send in your reservation card or contact either Ian McMillan '89 (607/277-2230) or Lauri Walsh '61 (607/962-3979) as soon as possible. Last fall's Homecoming went extremely well, as you probably heard. You won't want to miss out on the good times and memories this fall!

Alpha Delta Phi Welcomes Spring Pledge Class

Our 24 spring pledges completed a varied program that has been substantially restructured over the past three years. Many activities, such as the signature books, big brother/little brother dinner, and pledge questions, remain the same. The quality of literary presentations was high, and this year's work project accomplished a much-needed renovation of the third floor hallway, the tower stairs, and the solarium.

Pledges now clean the house weekly, especially after bar parties. The house was consistently in good condition throughout the spring. The pledge dinner has been changed from a food fight to a beer and pizza party followed by a night of games. The pledges slept over in the solarium for three nights in February, an activity that helped to unify the large and far-flung group.

Of the original class of 26, 24 were initiated. Two pledges left the campus and were not initiated. The rest were initiated in a ceremony for which the brotherhood restored both the ritual and Gotehaus to pre-war splendor. The weekend's proceedings were attended by 35 alumni brothers from as far away as Switzerland, Texas, and California and included a series of particularly productive meetings of the Alpha Delta Corporation and the Adelpheic Fund.

Chapter Values Legacies

As was announced in the letter sent out at initiation time, Alpha Delta recruited a total pledge class of 28 men, 26 of whom have been initiated (including our two fall initiates). This represents the second largest pledge class at Cornell this year, and the strong mix of athletes, leaders, and good students has further enhanced the house's solid social life.

Children, grandchildren, nephews, and close cousins of Cornell Alpha Deltas receive consideration as legacies. The alumni sponsor of a legacy should send a letter of recommendation to the rush chairman with his relative's name, Cornell address, and Cornell phone number, so that we can be sure to contact him.

Legacies are not guaranteed a bid. If the legacy rushes faithfully (that is, attends rush events frequently and enthusiastically), he will receive very serious, and probably favorable, consideration. If he attends rush events sporadically on the assumption that he will receive a bid due to his legacy status, then he is probably mistaken.

We strongly request alumni brothers to encourage their sons and nephews to rush Alpha Delta. Please, continue to recommend candidates. We had a strong group of four legacy brothers in the house this year and look forward to a strong group in next year's rush.

The rewards have included not only the feelings of satisfaction, accomplishment, and a debt repaid, but also the great pleasure of renewing old friendships and establishing many new ones. Most important has been the tremendous support I have received from so many of you. I thank you.

It is now time for me to move on, both for personal reasons and to give some of the newly involved members room to grow as I did. Thus, I have tendered my resignation, and a new president will be chosen in October. I hope that you will all continue in your support for Alpha Delta Phi at Cornell and that more of you will make the time and take the effort to become personally involved again. Both you and the fraternity can only be better for it.

Old Guard Honored At 1987 Reunion Weekend

A beautiful spring weekend was the setting for Reunion '87, as Alpha Delta Phi welcomed back a record number of alumni from classes ending in 2 and 7. The pictures in this issue of The Cornell Alpha Delta show only a small portion of the 40-plus alumni who showed up at 777 Stewart Avenue.

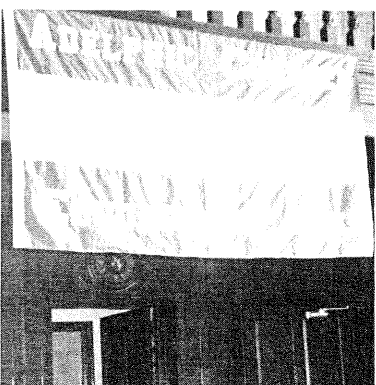

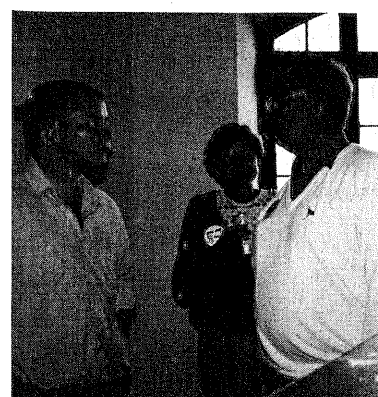

The traditional Friday afternoon ACEF cocktail party was hosted as usual by Jim Rice '30 and was a great icebreaker. Breakfast was served each morning in the dining room—a new institution at Reunion.

The weekend highlight was the opportunity to stay at the chapter house in clean rooms, with clean sheets and towels! This proved to be a popular idea and a first at Alpha Delta. Lauri Walsh '61, chapter advisor, conceived of this plan and guided its execution. Thanks, Lauri, for making Alpha Delta alumni feel at home again! All Alpha Deltas received a chapter reunion package with the names and current addresses of their classmates, a new "lost brothers" list, and a copy of the updated employment network list. All alums prior to 1976 will receive a membership certificate, suitable for framing, when they provide the year and date of initiation. Alpha Delta ties and sweatshirts are also available.

Jack Jolis '67 sent in an outstanding history of Victory Club, which includes several memorable incidents. A copy is available to all alums returning to the chapter house.

Brothers Jim Rice '30, Theodore Booth '25, and Charles Neff '37 received 50-year gold pins, and Brothers Richard Wambach '54 and John Brooke '57 received 25-year silver pins for outstanding contributions to the alumni organization.

Think about Reunion '88 now. Think about staying in your old room at your fraternity for $15 per person per night, including breakfast. Call your old roommate. Bring your wives and children to 777 Stewart Avenue. We had a great time in '87. We look forward to your participation in '88!

ACEF Recognizes Brothers For Scholarship And Leadership

James T. Lewis '27 Academic Excellence Award Established

Jim Lewis '27 had been a loyal supporter of Alpha Delta Phi at Cornell. A corporation officer and alumni board member for many years, Jim wanted to be remembered at the Cornell Alpha Delta house. At his death a few years ago, he specified that contributions should go toward an award for academic excellence. An endowment has now been established, and the award will be given each spring on Parents Weekend to the Alpha Delta Phi undergraduate living in the house both junior and senior years who achieved the highest academic standing in the spring term of his junior year. Winners of the award will have their names added to a plaque that hangs in the chapter house.

Bruce Hart Award

Lieutenant R. Bruce Hart '84 died in an airline crash in December 1985. An award has been established in his name to recognize the newly initiated brother who best exemplifies the qualities of leadership, dedication, honesty, and self-sacrifice during his pledging program.

This year's recipient, Sean Williams, was toasted at Parents Weekend and will be presented with his award and plaque at the 1987 Homecoming on the weekend of October 9-11.

Undergraduates Cultivate Stronger Relations With Alumni

Through the efforts of the undergraduate chapter and with the aid of G. Lauriston Walsh Jr. '61 and Robert A. Engle '65, Alpha Delta Phi has begun a new era in alumni relations.

During the past academic year, Brothers Walsh and Engle organized dinners for alumni residing in the San Francisco, Boston, and New York City areas. The active chapter promoted these dinners by personally calling all alumni within each area. This not only guaranteed good attendance at the dinners but also helped us organize our previously outdated address lists of all Cornell Alpha Deltas.

Both the San Francisco and Boston dinners attracted approximately 37 alumni, and the San Francisco dinner was such a success that the guests promised to perpetuate the dinner in the coming years. The New York dinner, thanks largely to Lauri's efforts, drew 40 alumni and 10 undergraduates. Among those in attendance was Richard K. Price, president of Alpha Delta Phi International Foundation, a graduate of the Kenyon chapter, who complimented us on our chapter's efforts to improve alumni relations and presented us with an alumni register so that the active chapter could keep a record of all visiting alumni. As at the previous dinners, the actives presented a slide show of Cornell and ADPhi, past and present. Overall, the dinners strengthened the bonds of brotherhood between alumni and undergraduates.

As a result of the good will created by the dinners and calls, Homecoming and initiation weekend were great successes. Homecoming drew almost 50 alumni, who were treated to an excellent stay by Mike R. Elliott '87. Almost 30 returned for initiation weekend. These increased numbers were matched only by the augmented pledge class of 24 presented for initiation by the actives, proving that both the alumni and the actives are working toward a stronger fraternity.

Another new development in alumni relations this year is the Alpha Delta Phi employment network. This system is designed to place undergraduates in either summer or permanent jobs through the alumni. So far, alums have offered over 70 positions in almost all fields of business, law, hotel, etc. Eric G. Hoertdoerfer '88 accepted an offer by Robert E. Reed '80 to work as assistant manager of "Let's Make a Daiquiri," a bar in downtown New York City. Alumni support for this network has been exceptionally strong, and we encourage all to help out if possible.

In the future, we will put our lists of alumni and jobs on computer so that both will be readily available to all. We will organize more dinners to promote brotherhood at Alpha Delta Phi, and we hope to see a large response to Homecoming on October 9-11. We will continue to call you about these dinners, other events, the job network, and just to keep in touch.

Finally, I would like to express our gratitude to all of our alumni for the support they have given to the active chapter during the last academic year. Of course, special thanks go to Lauri, Bob, and Steven A. Ritchey '81 for their time and effort. The undergraduates have seen how important alumni relations is and will continue to stress it as alums themselves. We have worked hard to make this fraternity the strongest on the hill; with your help, we shall truly succeed.

XAIPE,
David N. Sweet '88
